FROM THE DESK OF ED PRIEHS, DPW SUPERINTENDENT

Like most municipalities, the City of Imlay City owns and operates a sanitary sewer collection system. That system takes waste from a home or business through a private sewer lead, to a series of city sewer mains, to a treatment plant, where the waste is treated and released back into the environment. This process and its efficiency can be greatly affected by what residents and businesses put down the drain. Even though tree roots are a common problem, that most hear about in regards to sewer issues, there are two other major ongoing issues that residents and businesses should be aware of, and how it can affect the community. Expectations are that the toilet will flush 24 hours a day 365 days a year, and this can be accomplished, but sewers are designed to dispose of only very specific things including: water, toilet paper, and human waste. The biggest issue affecting sewers locally is grease. A by-product of cooking, grease comes from meat fats, lard, oil, shortening, butter, margarine, food scraps, baking goods, sauces, and dairy products. When washed down the sink, grease sticks to the inside of sewer pipes (both in the property's sewer lead and the city's main). Over time, it can build up and block the entire pipe and the results can be raw sewage overflowing in your home, your neighbor's home, or business and many other issues including an increase in operation and maintenance costs for the sewer department. The second biggest issue affecting sewers locally is flushable wipes. Many items marketed as flushable generally are not accurate and flushable wipes do not degrade like toilet paper. If a "wet wipe" must be used rather than toilet paper, dispose of them in the garbage. Grease, flushable wipes, and cooking oil are waste that the City's sewer system cannot handle and should not be discarded down the drain. The City needs the help of all its residents and businesses to keep the sewer system running properly. Expensive sewer backups, plumbing emergencies, and increases in sewer maintenance and repairs can be avoided while helping protect water quality in the community.
